Some are in livestock related projects from small animal (poultry and rabbit) to horsemanship. Shooting Sports is a vibrant countywide project with trained leaders and we have kids that participate in many of the disciplines offered. We also have members that are in the public speaking project and we offer an opportunity for member(s) to do demonstrations at the monthly club meeting as well as competing at the county or state level. There are also several other projects that our members have been involved in from home economics type projects like foods, sewing, knitting and crocheting, scrapbooking, etc. There is also some other countywide led projects such as photography and sport fishing that are available and some of our kids have participated in past years. In addition to the individual projects, our club has a full set of officers who learn how to lead a business meeting using Robert's Rules of Order. Through this experience, we decide on community service projects to participate in such as making fleece blankets for women's crisis center and fleece dog toys for shelter. We also make and take valentines cards to those less thought of at a nursing home. One highlight I think is that we yearly go caroling at a nursing home and adopt a local family for Christmas. Learning to give back to the community fulfills 2 of the 4-H's (Head, Hearts, Hands, Health) using our hands and hearts to help others. For more information, contact Joyce at 816-591-0356.
