Several common landscaping plants, such as Bradford pears, are becoming invasive in the countryside. Learn which landscaping plants can be a problem, how to control them and what non-invasive native plants can be put in their place. Speaker is Pat Miller, University Extension Agronomy Specialist, who has 31 years of experience working with area ag producers and home gardeners.

Sign up for this free workshop by calling 417-448-2560 or e-mailing Miller at millerpd@missouri.edu by the day before the workshop.
