University of Missouri Extension provides St. Charles County residents with research based information from the University of Missouri and Lincoln University, Missouri's two land grant universities. Program areas include Individual and Family Development, Parenting, Successful Aging, Family Finances, Nutrition and Health, Technology, Youth Development, Business, Agriculture, Horticulture, Natural Resources, Community/Economic Development and Continuing Education. The St. Charles County Extension Council manages the funding, helps determine the needs of county residents, and recommends programming to meet those needs. The Council is made up of elected and appointed members. All St. Charles County residents 18 and older are invited to participate in the 2019 Election of council members.
