MO MASTER NATURALIST TRAINING
CLASS INFORMATION MEETING

2020 Volunteer Training starting soon! Drop by either information meeting.

The Missouri Master Naturalist program is a community-based natural resource education and volunteer service program for adults, co-sponsored by Missouri Department of Conservation and University of Missouri Extension. Its purpose is to develop a team of well-informed volunteers to provide outreach and service dedicated to the beneficial management of natural resources and natural areas within their communities for the state of Missouri.

Master Naturalists enjoy a lifetime of learning and giving back. Once training sessions are complete in late April, they join the existing group for regular monthly meetings, hikes & outings, and their own projects.
